Fundraising Event Type	# of Support Personnel	Special Resources Required	Timeline to Prepare	Advertising Required	Scheduling	Staffing	Estimated Expense	Profit Potential
Bunko		As for bunco, we have the dice, rules, table set up, table numbers, pens . just need to have sheets of paper to score the dice rolls on. Advertising as a flyer, schedule the date on the calendar at the VFW ahead of time with Meredith, The bar manager. there are 10 card tables there so a max of 40 can play. Should have some raffle items to entice people to spend money, but not absolutely necessary. Between all of us we have plenty of raffle tickets if you decide to have raffles. I need a sign for how much the raffle tickets cost and a container to put them in in front of each raffle item. put them in in front of each raffle item. A few snacks and they can buy drinks at the bar. 40 x $20 makes $800. Per event U need a couple prizes for most Buncos, most wins, most losses, most mini bunco's.
Bingo		For bingo, both ALA and PBWC have the bingo numbers. We have the dabber's to mark off bingo cards with and still have lots of bingo card sets disposable left Before we need to order more for any group. Again, you have to make sure the date is able to be scheduled with the bar manager ahead of time and on the calendar. Usually we never start anything before 2 PM so that the bar has a chance to do set up and be ready for business. you need someone to call the bingo numbers and have prizes for those that win. Usually it's $20 to play with a set of five cards so that means five games. People can buy more at five dollars apiece for a pack of five cards. Some folks like to play more than one card at a time. We have a large board that shows what kind of Bingos are being played at each game that you tell the people ahead of time.

Comedy Night								1000
Wine Tasting/Slient Auction		I wonder how a wine tasting would go down at the VFW? They already have a liquor license and any guests could be signed in. $30 you get a bunch of two-for-one wines from BevMo. We have a ton of wine glasses, and all the decorations and spit containers that you would need. Just Need to get raffle items and sell the tickets for them. It's easy to get it set up on the Internet to buy tickets for event Brite or one of those programs so that way you could sell tickets ahead of time we have some people who can help with that like Paula and Cathy Sprecco from the PBWC.
Karaoke Contest
Varity/Magic Show
Trivia Contest
Talent Show
Honorarium Wall
Reverse Raffle

Casino Night
50/50		50/50s are always easy and make money. Not a ton of the time but if you have it at every meeting of people attend or during some of the steak nights etc. you could make some big bucks for most raffle things you need to have a raffle permit through the state and I can help you with the forms to get one as a nonprofit. We have one with the PBWC and have to do the report once a year there's a permit and then an year end reporting on all raffles.
Sip and Paint
Yard Sale								